Introduction

English has become a universal language used in the world of technology, politics, commerce and education. Language is the most effective communication tool. English currently dominates all aspects of communication. Vocabulary is one of the fundamental parts in learn a foreign language, where students are required to understand every word. According to Richard and Renandya in Salsabila (2017) argue that vocabulary is a core part of language skills and provides much of the basis for how well students speak, listen, read and write. From the results of field many students in Indonesia are difficult to understand English lessons properly. Their main obstacle is the lack of vocabulary mastery.

The use of media in learning vocabulary is very important so that students feel happy and not bored. According to Shramm in Irianto (2019) the learning media is a messenger technology that can be used for learning purposes. In this case the researcher observes one of the well-known course institutions in the Jombang area, namely the "Gwynfor English Course" which founded by a man named Pitoyo Yoga Pamungkas since 2013. This course has several branches and has collaborated with dozens of elementary school, junior high school and senior high school. Gwynfor English Course also applies some learning models such as song, game, and picture. In vocabulary learning they often use song as medium. The aim of the study was to find out the process of teaching vocabulary in A1 class Gwynfor English Course. The method used in this study is the descriptive qualitative method.

One of the most debated aspects of teaching English as a foreign language is vocabulary instruction. Teachers will encounter difficulties during the teaching and learning process. They are having difficulties figuring out how to instruct kids in a way that produces satisfactory results. The teacher should plan ahead of time and research acceptable approaches to use with the children. "Words we must know to communicate successfully; words in speaking (expressive vocabulary) and words in listening (receptive vocabulary)" is how vocabulary is defined. According to Neuman & Dwyer in Alqahtani (2015).

One of the most debated aspects of teaching English as a foreign language is vocabulary instruction. Teachers will encounter difficulties during the teaching and learning process. They are having difficulties figuring out how to instruct kids in a way that produces satisfactory results. The teacher should plan ahead of time and research acceptable approaches to use with the children. A skilled teacher should be well-versed in a variety of current teaching methods. Teachers must be able to master the content in order for students to understand it and become engaged and enthusiastic about the teaching and learning process in the classroom. The teachers should be concerned that teaching English to young learners differs from teaching English to adults. Teachers must be familiar with the qualities of their students. They must also develop good procedures and appropriate material in order to achieve the language teaching goal.

The teaching and learning process of children and adults are very different. There are five important sections that help provide some practical approaches to teaching young learners according to Brown (as cited in Herwiana, 2020:9) the first Intellectual development, Children understand concrete words. They don't understand the abstract words. Therefore, teachers must consider their limitations. The second attention span, Children's attention tends to be shorter when compared to adults. It means that they pay more attention to something interesting like watching their favorite cartoon. The third affective factors, ego of the Children usually very high. This may cause a learning divide between them and their peers. As a result, teachers should do the following to deal with this situation: 1. Assist pupils in laughing with their peers. 2. To acquire self-confidence, be patient and encouraging. 3 Act like students to encourage them to attempt new things. The fourth is the Language that is genuine and meaningful. In primary education, authentic media should be used in class activities. Because children are more interested and desire to learn if they already know everything in everyday life, all topics and materials must be contextualized.

The teaching English on the Gwynfor English course uses fun methods such as using games, songs, and pictures. This is in accordance with the principle of joyful learning. According Herwiana (2015) stated that joyful learning is an effective way to make the class lively because the activities are varied from group working, experiments and etc. There are two ways communication between the students and teacher. Bringing joy and happiness into the classroom can help to make class activities more effective because it allows for valuable knowledge processing and long-term retention.

To assist students, media as a teaching tool is required. Books, tape recorders, cassettes, video cameras, video recorders, films, slides (picture frames), photographs, pictures, graphics, television, and computers are examples of media that are used to physically convey the content of learning material. Learning resources or physical vehicles that contain instructional material in the form of media are referred to as media. student environment that can stimulate students to learn. According to Gagne and Briggs in Harahap & Siregar (2018).

The teacher uses media to convey information to the students. For the pupils, it must be engaging and interactive. According to Suyanto (as cited in Susanti, 2016), there are three types of media. Pictures, real objects, maps, miniatures, and realia are examples of visual media that may be observed or felt. Audio: Audio media is also known as listen media, and it is typically used to listen to and interpret sections. One of the characteristics of this medium is that it only allows for one-way communication. Radio, cassette recorder, and tape recorder are only a few examples. Audio visual media is media that can be watched as well as listened to.

In this research is not free from the weakness. So that, the suggestion and other critics will happily be taken by the researcher. To support the next related study and the improvement of teaching vocabulary, the researcher has some suggestions which is adressed to a) To encourage active learning, teachers should be more innovative in how they offer material. The teacher should inform the pupils that they can continue to improve their English skills outside of class. Teachers must encourage children to expand their vocabulary in everyday situations. It is hoped that through utilizing diverse techniques and media, the pupils’ vocabulary will grow. b) Students should be enthusiastic about learning English and expanding their vocabulary. They must understand that studying English can take place anywhere. Because they are surrounded by social media and have access to technology, pupils should be more motivated to learn English. Students should not utilize social media for entertainment purposes, but rather to develop their English vocabulary. It is critical to conduct research on acquiring vocabulary, such as in Indonesia. This must be improved and updated on a regular basis in order to achieve a more effective and relevant methodology, method, or even teaching model. Theories about EYL training need to be thoroughly evaluated in the actual world and in a variety of settings. Make an effort to use these varied mediums to teach English components, particularly vocabulary.
